UNITED STATES SENATORS

Should Be Elected By the People, and Thus Lighten the Burden of Taxation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 10, 1896.
Special to the HAZEL GREEN HERALD.
The senatorial race at Frankfort, Ky., has not only been of unusual interest to every Kentuckian but has excited the most widespread attention throughout the entire country. It has occupied the entire time of the legislature, and at last adjournment came without any election at all. Thus the whole session of our legislature was frittered away in an attempt to elect a United States senator. And because of this nothing was accomplished for the state in the way of much needed legislation. The taxpayer is burdened with the cost of that "legislature" with the slightest good coming in its return.

And in addition to this the legislature has been converted into a kind of arena for politicians to fight out their personal enmities and for each other to refuse to support some or to support a plan, or in maintaining a deadlock. In such things the state has no earthly interest, yet the bills must be paid, and at last to end the continual turmoil and riot of the session, members and senators were marched into the state house along the gambrel between the bayonets of 600 militia, called out by the governor, to suppose to support some legislation or somebody else. What a finale! A spectacle which makes men shudder at the thought of it, and truly deprecates its occurrence. We are not to deplore the fact that such conditions existed, which caused the governor to call out troops under pretense of protecting human life. As to whether the governor was warranted in his action is a question which I am in no way discussing however, and on that question I will not say anything. Nor do I mean to reflect in any way upon any candidate for United States senator who was before that body nor upon any individual member of it. I have no desire to do that. It was one of those very close contests, bitterly fought on all sides and it was a desperate impossibility to prevent anything that occurred, or any evils that existed. They were there, and their existence starts the ever-alert mind of the people to consider what the remedy will be, and not only in Kentucky, but in many other states of this Union, the people have experienced similar troubles in selecting their United States senators. I have heard of the patience with the class of people who meet who delight in hearing all about the state of Kentucky, and especially the mountains of Kentucky. Some of these citizens seem to think that the blood is more plentiful than water, and that no law exists in Kentucky. This is malicious. Nothing could be more so. The mountains of Kentucky are among the best blood of this great republic—law abiding, brave and generous, and whenever I see any great assembly anywhere in this nation, I find the statesmen of old Kentucky among those of the front. And if I desire a true friend, I know of no better place to find him than in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. But this aside, how can we avoid the difficulties we encounter in selecting our United States senators? I answer emphatically, let them be elected by the direct ballot of the people. In my humble judgment, this is the remedy and the only one. It would in no sense violate the spirit of the constitution that United States senators shall represent the state. But it would simply give us a more certain, more satisfactory, and a less expensive means of selecting them. The legislature could then devote its whole time to the purpose for which it was created—enacting necessary legislation. Not only did we have no laws enacted during the last legislative session, but a special session may be called to meet the needs of the state at an almost unlimited cost to the people, and even it may be spent in trying to elect a senator. It is time that economy should prevail in government. It is time for the burden of taxation which has been bearing down upon the back of the toiler and farmer to be lightened, and it should be done quickly, not only for some political campaign talk, but to practical change, and every system tending to this end should be adopted. There are potent reasons why the constitution should be amended so that senators can be elected by the people. To sum up only a few of the more important ones, however, I would say that:

First—It would give us a certain election of a United States senator, thereby saving the unnecessary expense which follows when an result is reached, as was the case with the last senatorial contest.

Second—It would give us the man who was unquestionably the choice of the majority of the voters. This would be the best way of selecting the man. The people can not possibly tell who will be chosen by the method of the legislature where partisan bitterness prevails. In the election of one whom the people themselves would prefer chosen and who may be entirely unjust for the people.

Third—It would enable us to select our state legislature solely upon the individual merit and fitness of each, where now they are frequently chosen entirely upon the question of who they will or will not support for United States senator.

Fourth—The legislature would then be able to devote its entire time for the good of the state, making laws which are needed, and abolishing and amending those not needed and unjust.

There are many other things which could be said in favor of this change, but I have now taken up more of your valuable space than I intended, so will not add more. I believe that this sentiment will grow as our people consider it, and that the dawn of the 29th century will see a change in the manner of choosing our United States senators.

With best regards to friends and kindest wishes for you and yours, I am,
Yours truly, HENRY W. CONNERY.

IN A NUTSHELL.

History of the Senatorial Contest From the Start to the Finish.

The Cincinnati Enquirer correspondent at Frankfort thus tersely summarizes the work of the late unlamented General Assembly, which adjourned last week after holding the most disgraceful session in the history of the state, in the election of a United States senator.

The most remarkable legislative session in the history of Kentucky adjourned Tuesday night at 6 o'clock, and adjourned without electing a United States senator and without passing any needed financial legislation. Of course, the remarkable feature of the session has been the senatorial fight.

At the November election 68 Democrats, 68 Republicans and two Populists were elected to the legislature. The Democrats nominated J. C. Blackburn as their candidate and the Republicans put up Dr. W. D. Gentry. Hunter, the other Populist vote for his own party, but was suspected of being for Hunter.

The nominations were made some days before the time for the first ballot, and before that time, for Senator Stogge, a Republican who was opposed to Hunter anyhow, signed a pledge not to vote for Hunter till Wilson's successor was elected. He had voted for Hunter, then for, the Populist, would have done so, too, and elected him. Ten sound money Democrats who decided to go into caucus signed an address stating their reasons for not supporting Blackburn. Later all but five of them came over and supported Blackburn, and at any time after Wilson's successor took his seat Blackburn could have been elected had they voted for him.

After many days of balloting it was discovered that Hunter, the Republican nominee, had pledged himself in writing to support the free coinage of silver. He was virtually requested to withdraw, and did so. This divided the Republicans into factions, but they finally united on St. Louis for their candidate.

The five sound money Democrats still held out and refused to vote for Blackburn because, they said, he could not be elected. On Saturday, March 7, Senator Wainwright, one of these five, was sick, and paired with a Republican. On that day both the Populists voted for Blackburn, and he could have been elected in two minutes if the sound money Democrats had not violated their oft-repeated promises to vote for Blackburn whenever both Populists did. Scipit, one of the gold-standard men, did come over, but Carroll, Vinson and Walker broke the faith and stood out against Blackburn.

On Monday George W. Wainwright died, and then the Republicans thought sure they would elect Boyle. The Republican House began at once by unseating Kaufman, a Democrat, but in five minutes thereafter the Democratic Senate unseated James and Walton, two Republicans. Before Kaufman was unseated his contestant, Dunlap, withdrew from the contest, so the House took up the case in spite of the withdrawal, and unseated Kaufman.

Then Dunlap declined to qualify, and then defeated the plans of the party leaders. The coming out of the troops and other events of the past three days are too familiar to need repeating. Beginning with the 4th followed by two deaths, the Republican House was unseated and an attempt to get the Democratic nominee to withdraw, it ended by the Governor calling out the militia and still stand as one of the most remarkable political fights of the age in any state.

For want of 450 will vote at the next election. The story of the session is too long to tell.

PAINFUL DISEASES

The Sharp, Intense Agony of Neuralgia.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF OBTAINABLE.

The Wonderful Works of a Wonderful Remedy—Lightning Hot Drops as a Pain Destroyer—The Evidence.

Nearly everyone knows the peculiarly keen, lancinating pain of neuralgia. Authorities say it is the most intensely painful nervous malady known. Yet neuralgia may be cured, and cured quickly.

Mrs. J. M. Fields, 856 Colfax street, Toledo, Ohio, says: "I tried Lightning Hot Drops for neuralgia. The cessation of pain was almost instantaneous. I am well pleased with the remedy."

The important thing is to follow directions carefully: read sheet around corners there have been cured in ten minutes. Other aches and pains can be cured as quickly. Mr. Lewis Samuels, of Scott street, Youngstown, O., states: "I had violent pain caused by disorders of the stomach and Lightning Hot Drops cured me when other remedies failed."

Lightning Hot Drops is for both external and internal use. It cures coughs, colds, influenza, grippe, lumbago, rheumatism, etc.—The 50c bottle holds 24 times as much as the 25c size.

"If you have backache, pain in the loins, kidney colic, palpitation of the heart, etc., try Lightning Hot Drops and Liver Remedy. It is a sovereign cure for disorders of kidneys and liver. Try it. It is a blessing. A book describing the uses of Lightning Hot Drops sent free to any address. Write to Medicine Company, Springfield, Ohio."

BLACKBURN'S SUCCESSOR

Governor Bradley Has No Power to appoint One.

There appears to have been some talk to the effect that Governor Bradley, of Kentucky, in view of the failure of the legislature to elect a successor to Senator Blackburn, will appoint his successor after the 1st of March next, when Mr. Blackburn's term expires. Should this be done the certificate of appointment signed by Governor Bradley would prove an empty honor to the appointee. Such a certificate is not valid in the United States senate would not be worth the paper it was written on. Governor Bradley, before taking such a step, would doubtless consult the leading lawyers of the state, who would then find that he is utterly without authority in the premises. The senate, which is the sole authority to dispose of all questions involving a seat in that body, in the case of Senator Blackburn, decided that the governor could not, under circumstances identical with those in Kentucky, make an appointment. For two years there has been no senator from each of the states of Washington, Montana and Wyoming. The legislature in each of these states endeavored to elect a senator, but failed to furnish a majority, no one was able to command a majority of the votes. Each legislature expired by limitation, and each governor made an appointment. The circumstances being the same, the act was made in Lee Martin's certificate from the governor of Montana. The question was long and ably debated, and by a decisive vote in which every senator participated, the senate held that it was the function of the legislature to elect a senator; if that constitutional body of the state failed to do so, the governor could not do so. The governor could only appoint in case of a vacancy caused by death or resignation, and then only until the next regular meeting of the legislative body of the state.

So clearly has this principle been established that should Governor Bradley make an appointment the senate would refuse to admit the appointee upon the formal report of the committee on privileges and elections and probably without debate.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than of all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore it requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only catarrh cure so internally to do so from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and cleanses the system of the system. These are the true drops. Others are not. It is the only one. Send for free trial.

Nerves

Are the Strangers of Home—the Telegraph System of the Human Body.

Nerves extend from the brain to every part of the body and reach every organ. As the first—good nerves but bad masters. Nerves are fed by the blood and are therefore like it in character. If the blood is weak and exhausted, if the blood is thin, pale and impure, the nerves will surely be strong and steady if the blood is rich, red and vigorous. Find a true friend in Hall's Sarsaparilla because it makes rich, red blood, does their work naturally and well—the blood is maintained, there are no secreted poisons, appetite and digestion are good, when you take

LACONIC LIVE NEWS.

Some of the Republican bosses are becoming scared because McKinley is securing too many delegates to the St. Louis convention.

The national house of representatives has passed resolutions censuring Hon. Thos. F. Bayard for an utterance delivered in an address at Edinburgh, Scotland.

SENATOR PEPPER must have become a victim of the drink habit, or he never would have said that the Democratic presidential ticket would not carry more than one southern state.

This shows the way the wind is blowing. Out of the 206 delegates already chosen to the St. Louis convention, 106 favor McKinley, 82 are for Allison, 22 for Reed, 18 for Sherman, and 4 for Morton, and 10 are from—

The so-called millionaire, Dr. Arthur Duestrow, who was convicted at Union, Mo., for killing his wife and baby in St. Louis, was brought before court and sentenced to be hanged April 22. He was taken back to the St. Louis jail for safe-keeping.

The dead body of a boy baby was mailed in the postoffice at Washington, D. C., last week. It weighed 9 ounces and was 6½ inches from the crown of its head to the soles of its feet. There being no provisions in the postal regulations for the transmission of such matter, it was stopped in transit.

It is thought that the head of Pearl Bryan, who was so foully murdered near Newport, Ky., has been found. A stranger brought a head to a Columbus (O.) matriculator of human skeletons, and he, suspecting it to be the missing member, notified the authorities. Steps are being taken for its identification.

The senate committee on privileges and elections has ordered a favorable report on Senator Turpie's proposed amendment to the constitution, providing for the election of United States senators by popular votes. The example of the Kentucky legislature is in itself conclusive argument in favor of such a law.—Big Sandy News.

ADOLPH HEKMAL of Brownstown, Ind. has a rare curiosity in the shape of an old violin. It was constructed in the sixteenth century. It contains an inscription in Latin, translated by Prof. J. N. Fouts, conveys the intelligence that it was presented by a maker to his son in the year 1540. The instrument bears all the marks of an old make, and is rare.

Too many doctors nowadays, too many men who want the people to conform to their own peculiar views, regardless of personal considerations, but who would not budge an inch to accommodate an opposing faction. Too many cooks spoil the broth. Too many bosses ruin politics. It is time for conservative and conciliatory heads to predominate, and nothing but liberal and sensible politics will prevail.

The county commissioners of Madison county, Indiana, have adopted a novel means of getting rid of an objectionable officer. Notices have been posted to all local merchants not to sell any provisions to Superintendent Kenyon of the poor farm, as the bills would not be allowed by them. In other words, the commissioners are going to starve out the superintendent as well as the inmates of the poorhouse, because Kenyon, who has one year more to serve, will not resign. The case will be settled in the courts.

The people of Kentucky have just been given the first lesson in Republican rule in the state. Military rule and despotism go hand in hand. The bayonet is the power called into service by a Republican governor to aid in the election of a senator. Bradley should discharge his "kitchen cabinet" and employ a lawyer to advise him in his duties. He was badly advised, and his action was a blunder that will not be forgiven by any lover of liberty in Kentucky.—Frankfort Argus.

HON. W. C. OWENS has introduced a bill in congress, two sections of which read as follows:

SECTION 1. A bill to provide for the free coinage of silver dollars, equal in value to gold dollars. Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that from and after eighteen months after the passage of this act silver bullion shall be received and coined at the mint into silver dollars for the benefit of the depositor upon the same terms and conditions as gold bullion is received and coined, and such silver dollars shall be of the proportions of fineness and alloy now provided for by law for silver dollars and shall bear the devices and superimpositions now provided by law for silver dollars, and shall be of such weight to be fixed as hereinafter provided as shall make each silver dollar equal in value to a gold dollar.

SEC. 3. That the silver dollar which shall be coined under this act shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise stipulated in the contract, and other silver dollars coined before the time hereinbefore specified for the commencement of coinage, under this act, shall continue to be legal tenders as though this act had not been passed.

A warrant for the arrest of United States Marshal George W. Drake, of this city, has been issued at Salyersville, Magoffin county, charging the noted mountain detective with taking $14 in money from E. A. Bostic, of West Virginia, who was on his way from Louisville, where he served a term of six months in jail for jayhawking. Bostic charges Drake with having taken from his pocket $14 in money and some notes. He says Drake gave him back the notes, but did not return the money. The warrant was placed in the hands of the sheriff. Detective Drake has just returned from Frankfort, where he accompanied the sheriff of Leslie county, in charge of fifteen members of the famous Leslie county jayhawking band, sentenced to the penitentiary. He said that Bostic was arrested as a suspected moonshiner by himself and Will Prator, of Magoffin county, and that he had no money on his person. They could find no direct evidence, and he was released at Salyersville. Drake wrote the sheriff of Magoffin county last night for information concerning the warrant.—Lexington Leader.

ACADEMY NOTES.

J. P. Salver left for his home in Lickburg, Sunday.

Miss Nannie Bays left for her home last week. Verily, the days of some in school are few.

Several new pupils will matriculate next Monday to take special work in the teachers course.

Since last "notes" R. K. Nickell has "quit school" and Alonzo Nickell has taken his place in the debate to be held on April 8.

Miss Rosa Candill is spending the week at her home in Magoffin county. When she returns she will bring two pupils with her.

Remember the debate for Friday evening, April 8. Question: The annexation of Canada to the United States would be beneficial to the latter.

S. M. Nicksall, of Lexington, and J. P. Salver, of Lickburg, are to be gone one week. Meanwhile, his sickness being "heart trouble," has proved fatal, and he is now on the hillside of Morgan county, working out his future with plow and hoe. How long is his week?

Last week's Messenger has a communication from Hazel Green, casting reflections upon our academy. It has reference to the music made by the Home band at the debate on the evening of the 13th. The writer of the communication has traveled a little farther than any one else; has seen a little more than any one else; knows a little more than any one else; can sing a little better than any one else; must see, in order to believe, a little more than any one else, but evidently cannot hear as well as a "jar-fly on the end of a fence rail on a July day," and has no ear for music, as all of his kind. He would make a good news agent or reporter for a daily paper.

ACADEMITE.

Willie Pieratt, who was confined to his room at the Day House several days the past week with strong symptoms of fever, is again at his post of duty.

If new and true, fresh and clean, in THE HERALD it will be seen, and now is the time to subscribe. $1 pays for it and the Enquirer a year.

Many who are already using the flour made by the Hazel Green Mill pronounce it first-class.

Miss Lillie Evans gave us a pleasant call Wednesday.

John H. Pieratt attended court at Frenchburg several days this week.

Mrs. John M. Rose and her son Charlie, who have been very sick, are now out again.

At Lexington Herald, of the 24th inst., was printed with red ink honor of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Andy Nickell was called in consultation with Dr. J. H. Stamper, of Campton, in the case of Jos. Alsey's child, who is very low with cerebral trouble.

Somewhile took H. F. Pieratt's horse from the stable Monday night and rode the animal so hard that it could scarcely move the next day. Entrance to the stable was effected by picking the lock. Signs acts of vandalism can not be too severely punished.

Last Saturday evening Mrs. F. N. Day received by express from her son Jimmie who is at Midland, Texas, a pair of fine Texas steer horns, which measure 58 inches from tip to tip. A number of other fine presents were in the box for other members of the family.

A new game called the "Editor's Delight," is paid this way. Take a sheet of ordinary writing paper, fold it carefully and enclose a bank note sufficiently large to pay up all arrears and one year in advance. Keep an eye on the editor and if a mile adorns his face, the trick works like a charm. Now is the time to play the joke.

Pure blood is the safeguard of health. Keep the blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla if you would stay well.

At a meeting of the board of trustees last Thursday night, Rollin A. Kash tendered his resignation as police judge, at no action was taken. It was all decided to ask the county court its entire regular term to appoint an entire new board, as no election was held at the proper time and no present members think they have no authority to hold over.

A postal from Dr. J. A. Stamper, of Campton brings in the following batch of notes: Born to the wife of Robert Taylor, of Devil's creek, a fine girl to wife of John J. Tuttle, two boys, weighing respectively, net 114 and 74 pounds; to wife of Willie Collier, a boy; to wife of Adam Creech, a boy; to wife of James Reynolds, a girl; to wife of T. M. Tuttle, a girl.

Sarah Fulk, of this place is quite ill, but some better at this writing.

The young folks of Hazel Green were given a social gathering at Messrs. Laura Rawlins and Minnie Day on last Saturday evening. Quite a large number were present and all appeared to enjoy their sojourn hugely. The principal amusement of the evening was "Tackling," and was participated in by all present. The refreshments served were of the most epicurean order, and were partaken of freely by the guests. The charming hostess received much encomium from the young people, who did not depart until a late hour.

To make poultry a success, they could receive the care and management, the same as any other stock when we want a lot of it, and go to town, we protect our cows from storms, and feed them what we think will produce rich milk and good butter. We must do the same for our poultry—on a farm poultry—where there will be plenty of sun and protection enough the day as well as night from storms.
